

Season 2, Sequel 1

How the Little Green Alien and its intelligent spaceship work together.

Little green alien, season 2, sequel one. The story goes on and our little alien grows older. Now we will see how it works together with its spaceship, its intelligent spaceship.

Yes, first they together formulate the impulse, the question, the problem, the thing they want to work on, something that they feel has to be done by them. That is cooperation: the alien gives some input, the spaceship gives some input, and they specify the question and the direction where they want to go. That's usually the first step of their collaboration.

Then the spaceship has a big role: it collects all available information from all other sources it has access to, and shows many, many perspectives on the system, on the issue, on the thing they are working on. Little alien is just learning and looking and consuming the information.

And with all this information, then comes the big role of little alien: it just sits down, empties its mind, and from a deep source lets anything come up, bubbles up, pop up, whatever wants to come up, just kind of from emptiness, very foggy, very unclear, unspecific, whatever it is. It just bubbles up, and a very vague idea of what could be a solution bubble up.

And then again, the spaceship helps with a lot of bricks, so that little alien can build a prototype. So this very vague, unclear thing becomes clearer and clearer by experimenting, playing, it's so much fun, especially if generative tools and bricks and things are available. And it can build a prototype and another prototype and another prototype and see how it goes. And with this, step by step things get clearer and more specific.

And at the end of the process, the spaceship can build the real final solution, maybe it's the thing it builds, maybe it's just the plan and information it shares with all the other spaceships. And the alien is very proud.

It has a very important role in this process: yeah, step number one, together. Step number two, mainly the intelligent spaceship. Step number three, purely alien. Step number four, both together, playful. And step number five, it's done by the spaceship, usually. So that is how these two collaborate, and both have an important part to play in this process.
